

some, any fill in some or any

Have you got _____ cake for the party?

May I have _____ more tea please?

I have bought _____ milk.

We haven't _____ sweets.

There wasn't _____ lemonade left.

Would you like to try _____ of my biscuits?

I asked Mr Smith _____ questions.

Are there _____ mistakes in my homework?

I didn't find _____ papers.

Would you like _____ more tea?

I could read the text without making _____ mistakes.

Have you got _____ photos of Cornwall?

There must be _____ bottles in the cellar.

Are there _____ radios in the house?

There are _____ bottles in that box.

Can you give me _____ money?

All right, all we need to light the candles with _____ matches.

Have we got _____ paper lanterns?

I have never seen _____ fish in the lake.

Aren't there dresses _____ in the box in your room?

Perhaps Bill has got _____ apples.

I need _____ information about play stations.

I'd like to have _____ bread, please.

Is there _____ coffee left?

Just ask me if you need _____ help.

Let's buy _____ bacon for breakfast.

She had _____ money left.

Would you like _____ more coffee?

Have you got _____ British newspapers?

I'm afraid I didn't get _____ apples today.

Could I have _____ salt? - Certainly, Here you are.

I've still got _____ homework to do.

We don't have to learn _____ words today.

There is _____ milk on the table.

There is hardly _____ tea left.